250 SIGNATURE

Nashville, GA
229-686-7481

QUICK TAKE
It's an escape boat in every sense - trailerable and livable

The helm has a GPS/chart plotter front and center, and plenty of room for a VHF radio under the steering wheel.

The refreshment center is angled to smoothly transition from the portside settee to the transom entryway.

Galley has solid surface countertops, electric exhaust fans and opening port lights.

The beauty of the 250 Signature is that a boating family can turn a great day into a great weekend. That's the overnighter side of this model. But another plus is that owners lose nothing in terms of portability. The boat is narrow enough to trailer without special permits and weighs 5,600 pounds, well within the limit of most tow vehicles. It's totally vacation-ready.

PERSONALITY PROFILE
Cruising	High Performance
Protected Water	Open Water
Weekending	Long Range
Value	Premium

One of the most interesting features of the 250 Signature is that it's available in two different cockpit configurations. The standard seating has a folding transom seat that allows for a wide-open cockpit when fishing. The optional version has an adjustment that turns the entire transom into an aft-facing lounge. Many companies offer one or the other, but not both.

Chaparral streamlined the area belowdecks to open up some space.

The galley, for instance, is unitized with a microwave over an optional flat-burner stove, which itself is above a stainless-steel refrigerator. One couple can sleep in the forward V-berth, while the kids bed down in the mid berth.

On the move, the 250 will take advantage of Chaparral's longer running surface aft, which generates lift and performance. It's a "go" boat; the "where" is wide open.

ALSO CONSIDER . . .

290 SIGNATURE Length 30'8" Beam 10'

Moving up to the 290 adds openness to the cabin and salon. Our favorite options would include the radar arch with speakers, dual-wide helm seat, and teak and holly flooring.

330 SIGNATURE Length 35' Beam 11'3"

The 330 is for longer vacations and bigger families because of the sizable forward and middle staterooms. The interior is elegant, with wood flooring, a split-level floor plan and high-end upholstery.
